The Bike Sale

Agreement

Samantha offered to buy Lee's bike for $150 by paying Lee $25 a week for the next 6 weeks. In return for the weekly payments, Lee would let Samantha keep the bike at her house and ride it when and where she wanted. They also had to agree that the bike was in good condition at the time they started the agreement. Both girls accepted the agreement.

Conclusion A

After three weeks, if Samantha can show that the bike is no longer in good condition, then she doesn't have to make any more payments.

Answers

The Bike Sale (p. 85)

- A. Little or no evidence. The agreement says that both girls had to agree that the bike was in good condition at the time they started the agreement. There is no evidence that the bike had to remain in good condition throughout the six weeks of payments.
- B. Little or no evidence. The agreement says that Samantha could keep the bike at her house and ride it when and where she wanted. Although the agreement will not end until the last (6th) payment has been made, there is nothing in the agreement that says Lee could ride the bike.
